TECHNICAL SPECIFICATIONS

I- Context

1.1. The Specially Protected Areas Regional Activity

The Specially Protected Areas Regional Activity Centre (SPA/RAC) was established by the Contracting Parties to the Barcelona Convention in order to assist the Mediterranean countries in implementing the Protocol concerning Specially Protected Areas and Biological Diversity in the Mediterranean (SPA/BD Protocol) of the Barcelona Convention². Tunisia has been hosting the Centre since its establishment in 1985.

The Centre works under the auspices of the United Nations Environment Programme / Mediterranean Action Plan (UNEP/MAP) - Barcelona Convention Secretariat, based in Athens, Greece.

SPA/RAC's main objective is to contribute to the protection, preservation and sustainable management of marine and coastal biological diversity in the Mediterranean and, in particular, the creation and effective management of marine and coastal areas of particular natural and cultural value and the conservation of threatened and endangered species of flora and fauna in the Mediterranean.

For more information, please consult: www.spa-rac.org.

1.2. The FishEBM Med project

The Fisheries and Ecosystem Based Management for the Blue Economy of the Mediterranean (FishEBM MED) project addresses the complex dynamics of fisheries management in the Mediterranean, a region historically intertwined with fishing activities across various scales. Industrial, semi-industrial, and small-scale fisheries (SSF) coexist, utilizing diverse fishing gear to exploit the region's rich marine biodiversity. Unlike other fishing areas with focused operations on select stocks, the Mediterranean's fisheries exploit a wide array of benthic and pelagic species, as well as mollusks and crustaceans, shared among littoral states. This necessitates strong cooperation for sustainable management. Despite its significance, the fishery sector has often been overshadowed by emerging sectors like tourism and energy. Nonetheless, it remains vital for livelihoods, nutrition, and coastal community resilience.

Recognizing the increasing pressures on Mediterranean stocks, the project emphasizes an ecosystem approach to fisheries management. It aims to contribute to reversing the over-exploitation of select commercial living marine resources by enhancing the capacity of Mediterranean countries to manage fisheries, including through the application of ecosystem-based management tools, in their blue economy development pathway.

FishEBM MED is a collaborative effort led by the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) and the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), with execution facilitated by the General Fisheries Commission for the Mediterranean (GFCM) and the Mediterranean Action Plan (MAP) under the Barcelona Convention, through the Specially Protected Areas Regional Activity Centre (SPA/RAC). The project receives funding from the GEF Trust Fund and operates in Albania, Algeria, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Lebanon, Libya, Montenegro, Morocco, Tunisia, and Türkiye. Through these concerted efforts, FishEBM MED aims to foster a sustainable future for Mediterranean fisheries while promoting the broader blue economy agenda.

In Tunisia, the project supports the elaboration of a National Action Plan Plus (NAP+) with an investment plan, aligned with the Post-2020 SAPBIO, that specifically integrates the blue economy approach. It will use a "blue economy lens," meaning it views the fishery sector as part of a larger economic and environmental system. The project will initiate at least one agreed pilot activity.
